

WHAT YOU'RE DOING

You are handing out a newspaper announcing the end of the war, national health care, the abolition of lobbying, and a whole bunch of other great and simple ideas.

IF SOMEONE ASKS WHAT YOU ARE DOING

T. Paine

- “Passing out this newspaper!”
- If pressed for more info: “I was hired!” or, “I got it through a list I’m on”
- Be polite and don't get caught up in discussion

WHERE TO DISTRIBUTE

- At subway entrances
- In subway stations
- On subway trains
- On sidewalks
- At media outlets
- In hotel lobbies
- In cafes and diners
- Anywhere!

THINGS TO SAY

“War is over!”
“Special edition!”
“Free New York Times!”
Or a combination thereof

OTHER ADVICE

- Be friendly and enthusiastic - you're spreading great news
- Enjoy yourself!

DO

- Put papers directly in people's hands
- Only leave them in places (cafes, some lobbies, etc.) where you're sure they'll be picked up
- Smile, be friendly, engage

DON'T

- Leave stacks where they might be thrown out
- Leave stacks in free newspaper bins
- Yell at anyone
- Kick dogs or small children
